Louis Vuitton's association with art is a long story. For over 150 years, the House synonymous with French elegance and style has been working with the best engineers, decorators and artists. Under the impetus of Marc Jacobs, Artistic Director since 1997, Louis Vuitton's has been revitalized and new collaborations with artists such as Stephan Sprouse, Takashi Murakami and Richard Prince have proved the brand's commitment to push the dialogue between luxury and modern art even further.
